

CURRICULUM AND INSTRUCTION: RESEARCH, M.S.

FUNDING

GRADUATE SCHOOL RESOURCES

Resources to help you afford graduate study might include assistantships, fellowships, traineeships, and financial aid. Further funding information (<https://grad.wisc.edu/funding/>) is available from the Graduate School. Be sure to check with your program for individual policies and restrictions related to funding.

DEPARTMENT FUNDING

The department itself does not typically award fellowships or scholarships to Master's students.

However, Master's students are eligible to apply for C&I and non-C&I teaching assistantships, project assistantships, or research assistantships through the campus jobs portal (<https://studentjobs.wisc.edu/>).

Assistantships are also available at the Wisconsin Center for Education Research (<http://www.wcer.wisc.edu/>). These assistantships are awarded to qualified, full-time graduate students and typically involve 10–20 hours of professional work each week, usually in close collaboration with one or more professors. Assistantships provide a stipend and may include the cost of tuition (excluding segregated fees).
