FUNDING

GRADUATE SCHOOL RESOURCES

Resources to help you afford graduate study might include assistantships, fellowships, traineeships, and financial aid. Further funding information (<https://grad.wisc.edu/funding/>) is available from the Graduate School. Be sure to check with your program for individual policies and restrictions related to funding.

FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE

If you choose to attend UW–Madison and plan to pursue funding on your own, the following sites could be very helpful:

- Graduate School Funding Resources (<https://grad.wisc.edu/studentfunding/prospective/>)
- Graduate School Costs and Funding (<https://grad.wisc.edu/studentfunding/currentstudents/>)

PROGRAM RESOURCES

All ISyE PhD students are provided funding and tuition remission, provided they are making satisfactory academic progress. This funding may be in the form of a teaching assistant, research assistant, or project assistant position, or as an external fellowship. The type position providing the funding support may change from semester to semester and is determined based on a combination of factors including the availability of research funds by the student's faculty advisor and the need for teaching assistants in ISyE courses.

For information specific to graduate assistantships within the Department of Industrial and Systems Engineering, please consult the department's graduate program handbook (https://engineering.wisc.edu/wp-content/uploads/2022/01/ISYE_Grad_Handbook_Spring2022.pdf).

ADDITIONAL RESOURCES

Federal Loans

Students who are U.S. citizens or permanent residents may be eligible to receive some level of funding through the federal direct loan program. These loans are available to qualified graduate students who are taking at least 4 credits during the fall and spring semesters, and 2 credits during summer. Private loans are also available. Learn more about UW–Madison financial aid here. (<https://financialaid.wisc.edu>)

International Student Services Funding and Scholarships
