

MUSIC, BA

The Mead Witter School of Music is a community of musicians, scholars, and teachers. Since its beginning in 1895, the School of Music has lived out a commitment to a student-centered musical education.

As one of the largest departments within the College of Letters & Science, we offer flexible programs with innovative and global approaches to music study. Our teaching, research, and performances reflect UW–Madison’s progressive history of creating change through innovation and exploration.

Learn more about the Mead Witter School of Music on our website: Mead Witter School of Music (<https://music.wisc.edu/>).

FACILITIES

Learn more about our facilities on our website at: Mead Witter School of Music – Facilities (<https://music.wisc.edu/facilities/>).

CONCERT & EVENTS

We offer concerts and events throughout the year that are open to everyone. See Concerts & Events (<https://music.wisc.edu/concerts-events/>).